Sean focuses his practice on intellectual property and complex commercial disputes.

Sean has experience representing clients at all stages of high stakes matters, including pre-dispute investigations, complex discovery practice, critical motions, jury trials and arbitrations, and appeals. He has a particular focus on representing technology and media companies in intellectual property and commercial disputes, and is a member of the firm's Videogame, Gaming and Esports Group, which is dedicated to providing comprehensive legal solutions to companies in these industries. Sean has also represented clients in a broad array of white collar and regulatory matters.

Prior to joining the firm, Sean served as an intern with the United States Attorney's Office, Southern District of New York, in both the Civil and Criminal Divisions, and as a judicial intern for the Hon. George B. Daniels of the U.S. District Court, Southern District of New York. He also interned with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's Enforcement Division in New York, as part of its Honors Law Program.

Before attending law school, Sean worked for six years in contemporary art galleries in New York, managing artists whose works were collected and exhibited internationally by major institutions.
